

Residency Program Now Available

Do you know a 4th year medical student looking for an osteopathic residency program in internal medicine?

The Medical Center has created a Graduate Medical Education program and now offers an Internal Medicine Residency Program accredited by the American Osteopathic Association (AOA). The program is led by Don Brown, D.O., Director of Medical Education, Sam Hardcastle, M.D, Program Director, and Jake Barrick, Program Coordinator.

The Residency Program will begin fall 2015 with six residency positions.

To learn more, contact Program Coordinator Jake Barrick at medicaleducation@mcbg.org or 270-745-1264.
